

CAVERLEY FIXES SEPTEMBER 10TH FOR HIS REPORT

Calls Crowe's Attack Both Cowardly and Dastardly

CHICAGO, Aug. 28. (AP)—John R. Caverley, retiring chief justice of the criminal courts of Cook county took full charge today of the fate of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Louis student, sons of millionaire fathers and confessed kidnapers and murderers of Robert Franks.

He set September 10 as the date on which he will announce the penalty for the crime and ordered all would-be spectators barred from the building that morning.

Before reaching that point he struck out as "a cowardly and dastardly attack upon the integrity of this court" and as "intended to incite a mob and intimidate this court" remarks which came just at the close of the final summing up by Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney.

The judicial wrath was visited upon critics of the court in general and of the progress of the Franks case in particular.

Mr. Crowe had reserved until the last a reply to a denunciation by Clarence S. Darrow, senior counsel for the defense, of testimony given in the early stages of the hearing by James Gortland, a detective who had been in the attorney's office. It was Gortland who swore that Leopold had said he hoped to escape the noose "by pleading guilty before a friendly judge." Mr. Darrow called this testimony "perjury."

"I do not know whether your honor believes that officer or not," said Mr. Crowe, "but if you have observed the conduct of the two defendants and the conduct of their attorneys and members of their families, with one honorable exception, and he is the old man who sits in sack cloth and ashes, old Mr. Leopold, who is entitled to the sympathy of all; with that one honorable exception, everybody connected with the case has laughed and sneered and jeered. If the defendant Leopold did not say he would plead guilty before a friendly judge, his actions have demonstrated that he thinks he has one."

Judge Blazes Up

Mr. Darrow objected to this statement at once and the judge's eyes blazed as he ordered the court reporters to write it. But he held his fire.

It was not until the state had formally rested and the defense and prosecution had agreed upon the brief formalities which were used to put the kidnapping case in the official record that the judge spoke.

Then he ordered stricken from the record the closing remarks of the state's attorney as "a cowardly and dastardly assault upon the integrity of this court."

Mr. Crowe's jaw dropped and he paled. Then the prosecutor found his voice.

"It was not so intended, Your Honor."

"And it could be used for no other purpose," continued the judge sternly, "than to incite a mob and try to intimidate this court."

"If Your Honor please," beseeched the startled state's attorney, "I merely wanted to put my personal feelings plainly before the court. I had no other intention."

"The state's attorney knew," went on the inexorable tones of the court, "that it would be heralded all over this country and all over the world. And he knows, too, that the court had opportunity to do only what it did."

Then scarcely changing his tone, Judge Caverley started reading a prepared statement in which he flayed critics who have aired their views in public prints or in letters and telegrams to the judge. He said this criticism came "from many well meaning people who knew no better; some from those who should have known better."

LINERS ON ATLANTIC WARNED OF ANOTHER BIG HURRICANE NEAR

Threatens to Blow as Heavy a Sea as That Recently Felt

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. (AP)—As ten gale battered ships made shore today with their storm weary passengers and crews, wireless messages were warning all ships in this part of the Atlantic to be on the lookout for another hurricane which, from present indications threatens to blow up as lusty a sea as that which recently wrought such heavy havoc on shipping.

"Tropical disturbance of considerable intensity is now central sixty miles southwest of St. Kitt's Island the West Indies and is moving rapidly west northwestward," read a weather bureau storm warning. Further advice was promised for early tomorrow. Shipping officials now fear another of the big liners now in the central and north Atlantic sea lanes may run squarely into the new storm giant, gathering its strength in the South Atlantic.

Among the ships several days out of this port are the Leviathan, the Majestic, Cedric, United States, American Banker, Orduna, Ohio and President Roosevelt. From South American ports still others, much smaller, and therefore in greater danger, are on their way.

BURLESQUE ACTRESS CONFESSES TO PART IN THEFT OF GEMS

Throws Money in Detectives' Faces and Names Accomplices

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Dorothy Burns, 22, a former burlesque actress, today confessed to a confession which, her captors declared, solved one of the biggest and most daring gem thefts in the history of Maiden Lane. Tonight the young woman was under arrest, with her husband, James J. Burns, 20 years old chauffeur, Harry Chance, another chauffeur and Mark Wolen, a jeweler, all charged with having robbed the shop of Alexander Faldenheimer, at Broadway and Maiden Lane, of $100,000 in jewels last Thursday.

The actress-wife's mother, Mrs. Freda Frost, also was in custody. Detectives who investigated her cider-selling establishment while searching for the daughter alleged they found liquor, black jacks and other weapons on the premises.

A sixth person—a "mastermind"—remains at large. He is the man unknown to and unseen by the actual robbers who, according to Mrs. Burns' alleged confession, directed the robbery from behind the scenes, received the $100,000 worth of gems thru a "fence" and paid the perpetrators of the theft $6,000 for the job.

A private detective of Lloyds of London was credited with developing the clues which led to the arrests and the subsequent confessions.

BERLIN TO TAKE VOTE ON FRIDAY ON REPARATIONS

Compromise is Believed Completed With Nationalists

BERLIN, Aug. 28. (AP)—Seven hours of acrimonious and partisan debate in the reichstag concluded the third reading of the bills relating to the London reparation agreement today after which it was decided to take the final vote at noon Friday.

The government is assured of the ordinary majority for the banking and industrial debenture bills, which suffices for both these measures, and it is believed that the necessary two thirds majority for the railway bill is also assured. Significant conferences have been in progress to this end thru the day between foreign Minister Stresemann and the leaders of the German nationalist party, which it is rumored in reichstag circles, has been promised admission to the present government in return for the support needed to ratify the London agreement.

With the approach of the decisive balloting, the nationalists today exhibited only solid opposition to the Dawes laws and there is likely to be a sharp division in the vote cast by its delegation, whereby the government will be vouchsafed the two thirds majority needed to pass the railway bill.

Early Morning Fire At State Hospital

A series of large barns and a silo belonging to the Jacksonville State Hospital and located on the hospital grounds near South Diamond street, were destroyed by fire early today, in the most destructive conflagration which the city has experienced in many months.

The fire department made a quick run at 1:45, with both trucks, but the blaze was already beyond control, and the efforts of the fighters were confined largely to removing the livestock from the barns and saving the buildings not already touched.

The barns which were destroyed contained about 100 head of cattle, nearly as many hogs, and a number of horses and mules, but it is thought that all the animals were removed in time to avoid death. Several pieces of farm machinery and certain other contents of the burning buildings were also removed.

The blaze did its work quickly, as most of the buildings were constructed of wood. The sky was lighted for a great distance, attracting a large crowd of spectators to the scene. The cause of the fire had not been discovered when the Journal went to press.

Enroute he was brought to the federal building here, where he added to his previous assertion that his arrest was brought about by a "frameup" engineered by the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., by "Big Tim" Murphy, whom Fahy was instrumental in convicting.

The former "ace" of the Chicago force of inspectors asserted that every action noted as suspicious by the inspectors who brought about his arrest had been a step towards solving the Rondout robbery.

"I was meeting Murray, all right, and thru him I would have found out in a short time where the money from the mail train was hidden," Fahy said. Murray is a former Chicago politician now under indictment as a member of the Rondout robber band.

"I was working alone and there were certain men in the service jealous enough to snatch at a chance to

COOLIDGE GOES TO CAPITOL TO RESUME LABORS

Family Stop off on Return to Visit at Grave of Son

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 28. (AP)—President Coolidge turned toward Washington and the cares of office and a campaign tonight refreshed and rested from the two weeks vacation with his father and family in his boyhood home.

The baggage was packed early and this afternoon Mr. Coolidge sat with his family on the tiny front porch of the home receiving the farewell visits of old friends and neighbors.

The annual services of the Pinyon family, of which he is a descendant, in the one-room Union Church across the road were clearly audible.

Their first thought on arriving was their last in leaving, and the president, Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John stopped on the way to Ludlow tonight where they boarded the train for Washington, to pay a final visit to the cemetery in which are buried the president's son, Calvin Jr., and mother and sister.

Mr. Coolidge, as on previous days this week, visited in the temporary business offices for some time this morning, going over the mail and the daily reports from the white house.

Before completing the packing, Mrs. Coolidge this morning took down the post in the garden across the road, the wind vane, which was made by Calvin, Jr., who died last month and which she put up, upon her arrival.

Last week the president kept almost complete seclusion and the rest he then gained and continued this week while again picking up the threads of his duties, has greatly refreshed him. He has given some attention this week to both pressing government problems and the campaign.

In the latter regard however, no indication has been given of the president's plans. He has several speaking engagements listed for Washington and one for Baltimore on September 6, but said the other day he had no political speeches planned.

Tomorrow he will address the fraternal congress from the south portico of the white house.

Turning to affairs of office again Mr. Coolidge expects to meet tomorrow morning the cabinet at which time he personally of the agricultural commission he proposes to name will be considered.

Editorial Journal:

Regarding the lease of a part of Mauvaisterre park to the proposed country club, it is proper to say that the park board has no authority in the matter and the members were simply asked for their opinion as a matter of courtesy by the city council with whom the sole authority to act in the premises lies.

The subject was thoroughly discussed by the park board and the reasons for their decision will appeal to any one.

It requires the closest economy on the part of the park board to care for Nichols park.

THE LINCOLN COUNTRY SHOWN IN MAGAZINE

Jacksonville is Given Prominent Place in Article Appearing in "The Applian Way."

The current issue of The Applian Way, magazine of the Pike's Peak Ocean to Ocean highway, might be called the Lincoln number, for the leading article is on the subject "In the Abraham Lincoln Country," presented a great deal of interesting subject matter and numerous illustrations relating to Lincoln.

The cover design shows the Lincoln monument in Springfield. The article purposes to show readers that practically all of the history of "the world's greatest citizen" before his election to the presidency is found along the Pike's Peak Ocean to Ocean highway in Illinois.

The article in the introductory paragraphs says:

"The cities of Danville, Urbana, Champaign, Decatur, Springfield, Jacksonville and Winchester, team with stories of Lincoln, and in every one of these cities are monuments, tablets, homes, buildings, or memorials of some kind preserved to retain forever the memory of this wonderful American, as associated with that city."

"Abraham Lincoln used the road that is known today, as the Pike's Peak Ocean to Ocean highway, in part, in coming to Illinois from his boyhood home in Indiana, and later in life journeyed over this road between Springfield and Danville, and Springfield and Winchester, in going over the Eighth Judicial circuit to take care of his legal practice in the various cities which are now on the Pike's Peak highway."

"The entire country, of course, is proud of Lincoln, but Illinois claims him as its own, and Springfield, where he lived most of his life, lays particular claim on him, and his history. In fact it is in that city today that his body lies, and to which city there is annually a pilgrimage from over the world, to pay tribute to him, and his works, and to see and know more about his intimate history, when a resident of Springfield, before he was called to his great work—the presidency of the United States."

It is well known that when a young man Lincoln came in close contact with things in Jacksonville, thru the fact that Illinois college is located here. The Applian Way article after mentioning this fact, refers to Lincoln's intimate association with Illinois college and quotes extensively from an address on "The Soul of Abraham Lincoln," made by Dr. Barton in this city last year. Dr. Barton delivered this address at the Congregational church and it was subsequently printed in pamphlet form for general distribution because of the numerous references to Illinois college and to Ann Rutledge, who planned to become a student at Jacksonville Female academy, her brother David being a student at Illinois college.

The re-publication of extracts from Dr. Barton's address in this issue of The Applian Way certainly furnishes some fine publicity for Jacksonville, and the article will no doubt attract attention of tourists in a country-wide way.

It was thru the interest and activity of T. M. Tomlinson that Jacksonville was given so large a place in this Lincoln article.

THIS NIGHTMARE WAS REAL

BY ALBERT APPLE

A Monster with feet that made tracks as big as wash tubs. These tracks were discovered in Utah coils by William Peterson, geologist. He writes about them in "Natural History" magazine.

The monster was one of the giant dinosaurs that roamed parts of our country millions of years ago. It was a flesh-eating reptile. This particular specimen, which left its trail in Utah, was half-grown, compared with some of its relatives for it was only 20 feet tall and 47 feet from nose to tail-tip.

It walked on its hind legs. Fore legs were small, used for clutching its prey.

Nature does nothing without a purpose. What was the purpose of these gigantic prehistoric monsters? One scientific guess runs as follows:

Nature invented big animals to dissipate energy back to its source, the sun. A dinosaur, clumsily moving through the jungle, smashing huge trees, released a lot of energy. On a small scale, theoretically, you release energy similarly when, for instance, you snap your fingers.

But the dinosaurs were unable to dissipate enough energy. Other energy was stored in coal, to be released later by man. Having experimented, nature began creating millions of smaller forms of life to dissipate energy—and killed off the huge ones.

An auto releases more energy than a whole tribe of dinosaurs.

The more you study nature, the more you wonder if she has any definite ultimate goal. She seems to be experimenting. One life form after another has its cycle, then is discarded to make room for others. More recent cases of extinct life are passenger pigeons, the dodo, and, almost, the buffalo.

Man is having his fling now. How long until man will become extinct? Many scientists predict that insects will rule the earth after us. Not pleasing to our vanity.

Skill

The skill of man seems to be the sewer.

HONORED ON HIS EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY

Relatives and Few Friends Enjoyed Celebration of Anniversary at Home of W. D. McCormick.

William D. McCormick, long time resident of Morgan county was honored on his eightieth birthday by a family gathering, at his home 1035 Grove street. There were about forty relatives and immediate friends in the company, and at the noon hour a splendid picnic dinner was served. Then the afternoon hours were spent socially in a very happy way.

August 28th, 1844, on the farm of Walter and Eleanor Jane Rannels McCormick was born a little son whom they named William D. That was a primitive home built of logs, with log barn and other structures like it on the place a few miles east of Woodson. The McCormick family all came of sturdy Presbyterian stock.

In that humble home, William D. McCormick lived until twenty-five years of age, when he removed to Kansas, residing near Topeka for six years. Still later he was a resident of Rich Hill, Mo., and afterward purchased a farm located southeast of Jacksonville. There he was a resident for twenty years. Then for a time he lived in Woodson and in 1907 became a resident of this city.

As a young man Mr. McCormick was a student at Illinois college and a member of Sigma Pi society. In May, 1870, he was married in Kansas to Miss Laura Allen. Two sons were born to them, Walter who died at the age of twenty-two and James now living on the home farm. His wife died in May, 1891 and four years later he was married to Miss Annie Darley. Their home life has been unusually happy.

In early life Mr. McCormick became a member of Unity Presbyterian church at Woodson and subsequently served as an elder of the church. After removing to Jacksonville he was honored in the same way at Westminster church.

The birthday observance yesterday was as pleasant as such an occasion could be, and will long be remembered by those in the company, which included Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McCormick and children, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Reid of New Berlin and children, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McCormick and children of Middletown, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brubaker of Litchfield, Miss Anne McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Anna Walter, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kinney, S. W. Nichols, Jacksonville, Mrs. Mary Burnett and Miss Olive Burnett, Waverly; Miss Rhoda Scott, Franklin; Byron Smith and Glenn Ebrey, Woodson. Mr. Nichols was a student at Illinois college at the same time that Mr. McCormick and his brother John were enrolled there.

MANUFACTURE OF ARMS
HURTS ONLY GERMANY

Geneva, Aug. 28. (AP)—If Germany is secretly manufacturing arms in contravention of the treaty of Versailles the quantity is not sufficient to prove a world menace, but only a menace to the republic, Professor Ludwig

COACH BURNS CALLS
PRACTICE NEXT WEEK

Has High Praise for Coach Knute Rockne Under Whom He Has Been Studying—Grants Interview to South Bend Paper

Coach S. Robey Burns, athletic director at the Illinois School for the Deaf writes friends in Jacksonville that he expects to reach Jacksonville early next week and that he will issue a call for the first football practice of the Tigers for September 4th.

Coach Burns has recently completed a summer course in coaching at Notre Dame under the direction of Knute Rockne, conceded to be one of the very best football coaches in the United States. While at Notre Dame Coach Burns also took a special course in basketball coaching under Dr. Meanwell one of the deans of the hoop game. In a recent issue of the South Bend Tribune Coach Burns pays the following high tribute to the abilities of Coach Rockne and Dr. Meanwell:

From my experience in attending summer coaching schools at different places since three years, I can assume that Rockne's summer coaching school is successful and commendable from every angle. The impressive thing about the whole school that will always linger in my mind is the excellent personality of Coach Knute K. Rockne himself. It is also my belief that every coach attending the school agrees with me on this point. I can truthfully say that I have never seen a better demonstrator than Rockne, as I was at different summer schools—Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

"Since I am handicapped by deafness, I have learned a great deal from Rockne thru his performances on the athletic field. He demonstrated the forms used in football and plays with full enthusiasm and showed the points in question very clearly. In dummy scrimmages his work as quarterback, back or end thrilled us, the coaches, as he showed skill and experience in doing football stunts and handling the ball.

His talks were dynamic and forceful. No wonder no one yawned before his presence in class, for he spoke of fascinating and stimulating facts. As I cannot hear, I read the notes that friendly coaches wrote and studied them with keen interest. Certainly, Rockne's system is ideal. I applied largely to his plays in coaching my team of deaf boys at Illinois School for Deaf, Jacksonville, Ill. They worked out perfectly on the Notre Dame shift last fall, so I am firmly convinced that Rockne's belief in which the backfield shift alone executes far more effective than line shifts or combined line and back shifts do.

Rockne is the living example of an ideal athletic coach to us because he wielded the right kind of influence into us. He stressed strongly upon clean athletics and insisted that we should see that football players must think out intelligently for themselves while in games and must play clean but hard.

In common sense, he followed the idea of George Huff, dean of athletic coaching schools. His ideals of sportsmanship—to play fairly and within the rules, to give the other fellow just the same chance you would like yourself, to win without boasting and lose without excuse. It seems that Rockne is moulding the ambitions and energy into young coaches who aspire to pattern after his principles in coaching teams.

I am impressed by Rockne's manifest interest and good fellowship. He always likes to be in close touch with young coaches. They were seen bound together on the Notre Dame campus. Rockne had jokes in abundance which always amused the coaches. I was told that he pulled one joke on me while he was performing some plays in dummy scrimmage. In connection with the joke on me, he shouted for his students to pep up, saying, "Can't you chatter? You sound like Coach Burns' team (deaf boys)!" Of course it was in fun and I laughed heartily at this. But I want to say positively that deaf players are regular Roosevelt fighters and naturally chatter in hand signs, which seem silent to hearing people.

Even we have a regular band at the school which cause peppy vibration to move thru our bodies. As to signal system, the deaf, it is of my opinion, have an advantage over the hearing. After it has been adopted, it will not be necessary to change it as frequently as the hearing teams do. Signs are executed by hands and are read in letters and numbers. They can never be seen, heard or smelled by opposite teams.

As to Dr. Meanwell, his system in basketball is highly commendable. He is also a fine demonstrator and possesses a real science in basketball. It is indicated that many of us will try his new system chiefly on short pass plays with pivots. The coaches highly enjoyed his comradeship for he took great delight in joining them in any occasion like swimming, motoring, etc.

AMERICA'S PROUDEST MOTHERS

By NEA Service

They are the proudest mothers in America!

And well they may be! The whole country—and for that matter other countries, too—are singing the praises of their boys.

For their sons are adding a new chapter to history.

Their boys are circling the globe, through the air, for Uncle Sam.

And now they are coming home. Fully aware of the dangers their sons would encounter, these mothers, like the Spartan mothers of old, sent their boys away last March with smiles on their lips.

Smith's Mother Flew With Him

But let these women speak for themselves:

"I wouldn't have stopped Lowell from flying around the world for anything," says Mrs. Jasper G. Smith of Los Angeles, mother of Lieutenant Lowell Smith, who received command of the flight after Major Frederick Martin crashed into an Alaskan mountain.

"I'd go, too, if I were a man. I'd like to fly some more."

"Yes, I flew with him a few weeks before he left. It was in San Diego."

"He took me 100 miles an hour, so I could see what it was like. And, oh, it was the most inspiring feeling!"

Now I understand why Lowell has been so absorbed by flying since the war.

"Lowell was an instructor at Kelly Field—so good they kept him there when others were going to France."

"He expected the trip to be hard. Before they took off in March, he said, 'If anyone thinks this thing is going to be fun, they're crazy.'"

"It isn't John's first long flight. He flew around the 'rim' of the arctic in 1919."

In Spokane, Mrs. Cora L. Arnold is waiting for her son, Lieutenant

But he finally got overseas. Just after he wrote that he was selected to head a division flying into Germany, the armistice was signed."

In Los Angeles is Mrs. Robert Harding, whose son John is the ranking second lieutenant and mechanic on the New Orleans, ship No. 4 of the flight.

"All his life, everything he's done, John always has come to me first," she declares.

Harding Asked Mother's Advice.

"When they called him from Cook Field for this 'round-the-world flight, he put it up to me. But I would not decide for him. I never would stand in his way. And I've never felt the slightest doubt as to his safety."

"Flying has changed my boy. Before the war, when he was preparing for an engineering course at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., he had the smoothest, softest skin, the reddest cheeks. Now his face is tanned, and as he wrote me the other day, 'we're husky like lumberjacks.'"

"But he's still the handsomest boy I ever saw. Here's a photograph of him with his officer's cap on. People often mistake it for a picture of the Prince of Wales."

"He expected the trip to be hard. Before they took off in March, he said, 'If anyone thinks this thing is going to be fun, they're crazy.'"

"It isn't John's first long flight. He flew around the 'rim' of the arctic in 1919."

Leslie P. Arnold, another one of the pilots.

"I'm not at all worried about Leslie," she says. "In all the time he has been flying, he has had only one accident. And that wasn't serious."

"That was in Memphis, when he was forced to make a landing on top of a henhouse. But he escaped without a scratch."

Letters Almost Daily From Wade.

"Leslie was an instructor in the air service both in this country and in France during the war. He is a Princeton graduate. Before going in to the aviation service he was a draftsman in the submarine division."

Near Cassopolis, Mich., lives Mrs. William M. Wade, mother of Lieutenant Leigh Wade. Like the mothers of the other flyers, she is confident he will return safely.

Lieutenant Wade has been home only for visits of a few hours at a time since entering the army, his mother says. A couple times, when he was stationed at Dayton, he flew back for brief visits.

Mrs. Wade receives almost daily letters from him. And cards and souvenirs have been mailed from every station at which the Yankee airmen have stopped.

Mrs. Christina Nelson, mother of Lieutenant Eric Nelson, liaison officer and chief engineer on the flight, lives in Sweden. And Mrs. E. B. Ogden, mother of Master Sergeant A. D. Ogden, specially commissioned second lieutenant for the flight, lives in Woodville.

heard in Cook county in which the state has asked the death penalty," said the statement.

It added that this result could not have been obtained if it had not been for careful, painstaking, preparation of the state's attorney and the commendable policy of the defense in not seeking delay.

"So it can not be truthfully said," added the statement, "that wealth or poverty had anything to do with delay in this case because there was no delay."

The judge said he considered ten days about the proper time in which to consider his finding because he had "practically 2,000 pages of exhibits to study."

He explained that these consisted of parts of the testimony, the Bowman-Hulbert report, parts of the confession, and parts of the testimony which was read in secret because it contained matter that was not fit for publication.

Only illness will prevent the judge from ruling on the selected date.

While the public is showing itself unusually interested in the question of the penalty to be meted out to Loeb and Leopold, the two who should be most concerned, maintain the blasé, bored air that has characterized them since the beginning of the trial. In their cells in the county jail tonight "Babe" and "Dickie" were as cheerful as if they had been taking part in a campus social affair.

Mrs. J. L. Willmouth and Mrs. M. M. Love of Roodhouse transacted business in Jacksonville Thursday.

Recipes to Aid Mrs. Housewife During the Pickling Season

BY SISTER MARY

Pickling season is now at hand and Mrs. Housewife is busy putting away her favorite pickles and preserves for the winter months.

So I have prepared a number of recipes which I feel will be of service during the season.

All of these recipes have been thoroughly tested and if followed closely will give good results.

Gherkins

(Small, Unripe Cucumber Pickles) One half peck (about 125) small cucumbers, 2 quarts boiling water, 2 cups salt, lump of alum size of a nutmeg, 1 gallon vinegar, 4 sticks cinnamon, 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons mustard seed, 3 tablespoons whole cloves, 1 tablespoon celery seed.

Wash cucumbers and wipe dry. Put in a deep stone jar and pour over salt dissolved in boiling water. Cover with a cheesecloth and let stand three days.

Drain brine from cucumbers, bring brine to boiling point and return to cucumbers, cover and let stand three days.

Drain brine from cucumbers. Wipe cucumbers and return to the crock. Pour over boiling water to cover in which alum has been dissolved. Let stand over night. In the morning drain from alum water and let stand in clear, cold water for two hours. Drain and wipe.

Put cucumbers, vinegar and spices in preserving kettle. Bring to the boiling point and simmer, closely covered for ten minutes. Pack cucumbers in sterilized jars, fill jars to overflowing with boiling vinegar and seal.

Cucumber Rings

"Slicing" cucumbers, 1 ounce stick cinnamon, 1 ounce whole cloves, 1 ounce whole allspice, 3 pounds brown sugar, 3 pints vinegar.

The seeds in the cucumbers must be tender. Wipe cucumbers and soak in a strong brine for three days. Drain from brine and soak in clear water for three days. Drain and simmer for two hours in weak vinegar in which a lump of alum the size of a nutmeg has been dissolved. Drain from vinegar and cut in inch slices. There should be enough cucumbers to fill a 1-gallon crock. Pour over vinegar, sugar and spices which have been brought to the boiling point. Drain off vinegar and pour boiling hot over cucumbers packed in a crock for three successive mornings. When cool, after the third morning, cover with a big plate and store in a dark, cool place.

Ela's Pickles

One cup ground mustard, 1 scant cup salt, 3 quarts vinegar, 1 quart water, small cucumbers. Mix mustard, salt, vinegar and water and bring to the boiling point. Boil three minutes and let stand until cold. Wipe cucumbers with a soft cloth and pack in a stone crock.

Pour over prepared vinegar and let stand three or four days before using. These pickles can be made as the cucumbers are gathered, a few put into the vinegar as convenient.

To keep, cover with a weight and store in a cool, dry place.

Crisp Pickles

One cup rock salt, 1 cup mustard, 1 cup sugar, 1 gallon vinegar, horseradish root. Wash cucumbers and wipe dry. Put in a stone jar. Add horseradish root well washed and cut in quarter inch slices. Put a layer of horseradish over each layer of cucumbers. Mix salt, mustard, sugar and vinegar and let stand until dry ingredients are dissolved. Pour over cucumbers. Continue to add cucumbers and horseradish until crock is full.

Cover top layer of cucumbers with seven or eight long pieces of horseradish root. Cover the whole with a thick layer of grape leaves washed and wiped dry. Put a big plate over the crock and store in a dry, cool place.

These pickles will be ready for use in six weeks.

If the vinegar is very "sharp" dilute it with water. Too strong vinegar is often the cause of wilty pickles, no matter how they are made.

Mixed Cream Pickles

Twelve "slicing" cucumbers, 2 quarts of small onions, 12 sweet red peppers, 2 ounces white mustard seed, 3-4 cup butter, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon ground mustard, 4 eggs, 3 pints vinegar, 1 cup sweet cream.

Chop cucumbers, pack in a crock with alternate layers of salt and let stand over night. Do the same with the onions. In the morning drain from the salt liquor, add peppers with seeds removed and chopped and mustard seed and scald in vinegar to cover. Drain.

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs one at a time, thoroughly beating each egg into mixture. Add mustard and vinegar and mix well. Add cream. Heat to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Add prepared "pickle" and bring again to the boiling point. Seal in sterilized jars.

Dresden Sauce Twelve red peppers, 12 green peppers, 12 yellow peppers, 4 Bermuda onions, 1-4 cup salt, 5 cups vinegar, 2 cups brown sugar, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon white mustard seed.

Remove seeds and stem ends from peppers. Chop very fine. Cover with boiling water and let stand ten minutes. Drain and cover with cold water. Add chopped onions and bring to the boiling point. Drain. Put all ingredients in preserving kettle, bring to the boiling point and boil fifteen minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Mixed Pickles

One quart small white onions,

1 quart sliced green tomatoes, 1 large head cauliflower, 4 green peppers, 1 quart Lima beans, 1 quart tender "stringless" beans, 1 head celery, 1 quart chopped "slicing" cucumbers, 4 quarts water, 2 cups salt, 1 cup flour, 1-2 cup ground mustard, 1 tablespoon turmeric, 1 cup sugar, 2 quarts vinegar.

Remove seeds from peppers and chop. Separate cauliflower into small flowerettes. Let cauliflower stand head down in cold salted water for an hour before separating to remove any lurking insects. Make a brine of the salt and water and pour over all the prepared vegetables except the beans and celery. Let stand 24 hours. Add beans and celery and heat enough to scald. Drain and throw away liquor. Mix flour, mustard and turmeric with enough vinegar to make a thin paste. Add sugar and remaining vinegar. Boil until the mixture thickens. Add vegetables and scald thoroughly. Put into sterilized jars and seal.

Chili Sauce

Twelve large ripe tomatoes, 4 medium sized onions, 2 green peppers, 2 stalks celery, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 3 tablespoons salt, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 teaspoon black pepper, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon mustard.

Scald and peel tomatoes, cut in small pieces and put in preserving kettle. Prepare peppers and chop. Chop onions and celery. Add to tomatoes and boil 15 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and boil until thick, about 1-2 hours.

Piccalilli

Four quarts chopped green tomatoes, 1 pint chopped onions, 1 quart chopped green peppers, 1 medium sized head cabbage, 1 head celery, 3 cups light brown sugar, 1 ounce white mustard seed, 2 ounces stick cinnamon, 1 ounce whole cloves, 1 ounce allspice berries, 1 cup salt, vinegar.

Wash tomatoes and peppers. Remove stem end from both and seeds from peppers. Peel onions. Quarter cabbage and remove core. Clean and trim celery. Chop each vegetable separately. Put in a big crock in alternating layers, sprinkle each layer with salt. Let stand over night. In the morning drain and throw away the liquor. Tie spices in a cheesecloth bag. Put vegetables, sugar and spices in preserving kettle with enough vinegar to cover. Heat slowly to the boiling point. Simmer until vegetables are soft. Put into sterilized jars and seal.

Corn Salad

Twelve ears sweet corn, 1 head cabbage, 1 red pepper, 2 green peppers, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon ground mustard, 1 cup sugar, 2 Bermuda onions, 2 quarts vinegar.

Cut tops from kernels of corn and scrape out the heart. Chop. Remove seeds from peppers and chop. Peel and chop onions. Add vegetables and add remaining ingredients. Put in preserving kettle and cook 20 minutes. Fill sterilized jars with mixture and seal.

Sweet Pickles

Three pounds fruit, 1 pound sugar, 1 pint vinegar, 2 tablespoons broken stick cinnamon, 1 teaspoon whole cloves. Let vinegar, sugar and spices come to the boiling point. Pour over prepared fruit and let stand over night. In the morning cook fruit in the vinegar sirup until fruit is clear. Pack fruit in sterilized jars and pour over vinegar to fill cans full to overflowing and seal.

This rule should be used for any sweet pickle.

Plain Peach Butter

Scald peaches and slip off skins. Remove stones. Pour a very little water in the bottom of preserving kettle to prevent burning, add peaches and cook until fruit is tender. Stir to prevent sticking. Rub fruit through a fine colander and measure pulp. Put fruit in preserving kettle and add as many cups of sugar as there were cups of fruit. Boil, stirring constantly, about half an hour. The length of time required for cooking depends on the amount of water used to cook the peaches. Seal in sterilized jars. Do not try to make too much butter at a time as long cooking makes the butter dark colored.

Peach and Pineapple Marmalade Seven pounds of peaches, 1 ripe pineapple, 2 lemons, 6 pounds of sugar.

Pare and slice the pineapple. Skin and stone peaches. Put fruit in preserving kettle with enough water to prevent burning. Bring slowly to the boiling point and simmer 30 minutes. Sift in the sugar slowly without stopping the boiling, add the juice of the lemons and simmer 20 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Peach and Orange Marmalade Twenty-four peaches, 6 oranges, sugar.

Pare and remove stones from peaches. Squeeze juice from oranges and parboil skins. Cut skins and shreds. Cook peaches until tender and rub through colander. Add orange juice and shredded skin and weigh. Use as many pounds of sugar as there were pounds of fruit. Boil half an hour and seal in sterilized jars.

Pear Conserve

Four pounds pears, 4 pounds sugar, 3-4 pound raisins, 2 lemons, 3 oranges, 1 cup English walnut meats. Peel and core pears and cut in small pieces. Squeeze juice from oranges and lemons and put skins through food chopper. Put fruit, juices and chopped skins in preserving kettle with 1-2 cup water and sugar. Boil until mixture thickens and add nuts. When pears are transparent, pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Tutti-Frutti Conserve Twelve peaches, 5 quinces, 7 pears, 3 apples, 3 lemons, 6 plums, sugar.

Pare fruit and remove seeds. Cut lemons in quarters and remove seeds. Put lemons, pears and apples through food chopper. Add prepared peaches and plums and weigh. Add pound for pound of fruit. Put alternating layers of fruit and sugar in preserving kettle and let stand overnight. In the morning boil until mixture thickens. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Yellow Tomato Preserves One peck tiny yellow tomatoes, sugar, 1 lemon.

Scald tomatoes and slip skins. Weigh. Use as many pounds of sugar as there were pounds of fruit. Use one lemon to every 2 pounds of fruit. Add one-third as much water as sugar and boil 3 minutes. Add whole tomatoes, lemon cut in very thin slices and cook until tomatoes are transparent, our into sterilized jars and seal.

Quince Honey Six large quinces, 6 pounds of sugar, 6 cups water.

Pare and grate quinces. Put sugar and water in preserving kettle and boil ten minutes. Add quinces and cook half an hour. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cool.

Grape Conserve Five pounds grapes, 5 pounds sugar, 1 pound raisins, 3 oranges, 1 cup chopped nut meats.

Pulp grapes and cook pulps and skins separately. Put pulp thru strainer to remove seeds. Add to skins with sugar, pulp of oranges, the grated rind of 1-2 oranges and raisins. Cook five minutes longer or until thick and turn into jelly glasses. Cover with paraffin when cool.

Spiced Grapes Five pounds grapes, 2 1-2 pounds sugar, 3 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons allspice, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1 cup cider vinegar.

ADDITIONAL ENTRIES IN BABY CONFERENCE

Seventy-four babies are now entered in the "Better Babies" conference to be held at the Morgan County fair next week. Of these, 46 are girls, and 28 are boys. In some cases, one mother has entered as many as three babies. The majority of the babies are re-entries, having been examined at previous conferences. By having their babies examined more than once, the parents are able to determine the rate of development more accurately.

Those in charge of the baby conference urge prospective entrants to have their applications made by Saturday, in order that they may receive their appointment cards in time, rather than to have them delayed by the non-delivery of mail on Monday, Labor Day.

Additional entries, made yesterday are included in the following list, which gives the name of the baby, the name of the entrant, and the home address:

Geneva Eileen Kinnett, Mrs. Fred Kinnett, Orleans.

Wilbur Irwin Black, Mrs. A. L. Black, 1224 South East street.

F. W. SANFORD DIES AT HOME IN WEST

Deceased Long Resident Here—Was at One Time Member of Illinois College Faculty—Had Been Professor at Nebraska University for Many Years.

A dispatch to the Journal announced last night the death of Prof. Frederick Warren Sanford at his home in Lincoln, Nebraska. Prof. Sanford was the son of Dr. George H. and Elizabeth M. Sanford and was born in Tallula, Menard county, April 15, 1870. He received the advantages of the public schools of that place and later entered Illinois college graduating from that institution with honor about 1892.

His first work as instructor was in the Moore school in the Pisgah neighborhood where he scored a fine success. Among his warm friends there were the late "Uncle Septimus" Stevenson, John Dobyns, C. J. Drury, Mr. Graff, Mayberry Walter and others.

He next taught a year in the Jacksonville high school. Pres. Tanner then tendered him a position as professor of Latin in Illinois college which place he filled with acceptance for a number of years. He and the late Prof. H. W. Johnston, instructor in Latin, were intimate friends as long as the professor lived.

After the death of President Tanner, Prof. Sanford remained under the presidency of President Bradley for a time and then desiring to know still more of the language of the Caesars, he spent a year studying in Rome and Athens. Returning he was connected with Chicago University as student and instructor for three years and was then appointed assistant professor of Latin in the state university at Lincoln, Nebraska, where he has served for nearly twenty years.

In this responsible position he won the highest praise as a linguist and instructor. He was deservedly popular with faculty and students and his manly, upright conduct, his fine abilities and genial disposition won for him the esteem, respect and loyalty of all who knew him well. In society he was equally well received and honored for his rare qualities.

Prof. Sanford was the author of a number of Latin text books which have been well received by competent educators. He was loyal to his church, the Presbyterian, uniting first with State street church of this city and later removing his membership to Lincoln. He was always a valued member and his counsels were frequently sought by both pastor and people.

He was married to Miss Alice Dalby, well known here, and they were the parents of three children one of whom died in infancy. The surviving ones are Fred W. Jr., aged seventeen and Virginia, ten. There has been a beautiful home life, each devoted to the other and all working together. The father was never too busy to fraternize with his children and seek the welfare and happiness of his loved ones while the mother unselfishly did her part toward making the home life what it should be. In their deep sorrow the afflicted family will have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends and relatives.

Prof. Sanford is survived by one brother, W. H. Sanford of Portland, Oregon. He was also a nephew of S. W. Nichols of this city. The time for the funeral has not been announced.

Several communications relative to the national convention of the American Federation of Labor to be held soon at El Paso, Texas, were read at the meeting.

Jacksonville Crowd Of 200 At Meredosia

Forty auto loads of Jacksonville residents, or about 200 in all, made the trip to Meredosia yesterday for the first day of the big homecoming. The delegation, or the greater part of it, left this city at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and drove to Meredosia in an hour. The Jacksonville Community band preceded the main delegation to Meredosia and gave a short concert before its arrival.

At the city limits all cars lined up, along with several handsome floats and decorated autos, and headed by a band, made a parade of the Meredosia business district. More than a hundred cars were in line, and at the rear of the parade marched a pick up band from Meredosia, the members dressed in fantastic costumes.

The band then gave another dinner. The Homecoming Association served burgoos and fish and ladies of the Methodist church served an excellent chicken dinner. A large number of the Jacksonville visitors gathered about this section of the grounds, and made the chicken and other good things disappear with great rapidity. The dinner and the program which followed compensated the visitors for the heavy dusting they had received on the trip.

At 1:30 o'clock, the crowd assembled about the band stand in the park, and after a selection by the band, Mayor L. F. Berger introduced J. Hildebrand, president of the Homecoming Association, who welcomed the visitors. The response was given by C. Y. Rowe president of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, who spoke as follows:

"On behalf of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, five hundred organized business and professional men of our city we thank you for this cordial reception. We, indeed, appreciate the thought expressed by you so fittingly, in setting aside this one day in your great Home-Come-Coming program in honor of Jacksonville people.

"We come here today, not as competitors, one rivaling against the other for the meager business which might result. But, rather, do we come here as neighbors on a friendly visit to get better acquainted and to mutually promote as best we may, the interest and advancement of this great community, the country of Morgan, in which we all reside.

"At this time I wish to express to the citizens of this community our appreciation for the protecting arm of watchfulness that you have thrown about the hundreds of our boys and girls who have come to your midst to be on the banks of your beautiful river each summer.

"On this hot afternoon I will not keep you, except to make one point. Meredosia has always shown Jacksonville the way to the river.

"In the pioneer days, Meredosia built the first railroad in Morgan County, whose wooden rails connected this very spot to West State street, Jacksonville, and ran down the center of the thoroughfare to our public square. That was the first time Meredosia showed Jacksonville the way to the river.

"Today, there is a committee of men in our Chamber of Commerce who are working day and night, for the realization of another connecting link in the form of an eighteen-foot-wide ribbon of solid concrete between these same points. And, my friends, with your cooperation it does not seem to be a very far distant date, before this hope will be realized.

Again, we thank you for your hospitality and hope that we may be invited back again next year.

SHEETS TO SPEAK AT COUNTY FAIR MONDAY

Will Deliver Labor Day Speech In Front of Grandstand—Cattle Exhibit to be Larger Than Ever.

Col. Frank T. Sheets of the state highway department will deliver an address on the projected $100,000,000 road bond issue at the Morgan county fair ground on Labor Day, according to announcement made yesterday by the management. Col. Sheets will speak from a platform in front of the grandstand, and it is expected that he will draw a large audience. This is the operation of a national holiday, the crowds are expected to be greater than under ordinary circumstances.

Present entry lists indicate a heavy increase in the cattle department, especially in the short-horn class. The tent secured to house the cattle will accommodate 120 head, and it is feared that additional tent space will have to be provided. Several large exhibitors have yet to enter their stock.

Most of the tents now being erected on the grounds, and workmen are busy getting ready for the rush of exhibits, which is expected to start the last of the week. A turnstile has been placed at the foot entrance on the east side of the grounds, in order that the gate men may keep an accurate record of the attendance this year.

BIG CIRCUS IS COMING SOON

Hagenbeck-Wallace Organization Will Visit City, September 10th

"The spirit of the circus" that is what enabled Herr Jawn Hellot, the chief animal trainer of the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus to complete his act, and then work an additional day until another trainer arrived, after nearly having his right arm torn from his body by "Sultan," the giant lion, valued at $25,000 by the circus management.

Last winter, when the Hagenbeck show was appearing in the big building in the metropolitan centers, such as St. Louis, Hellot was working his group of seven lions in St. Paul. The lions had been acting badly for several days, due to the cold weather outside, and their close quarters, but Hellot was certain he could "work" them without danger.

Suddenly Sultan, the largest lion in the group turned upon his trainer, as Hellot was about to put his arm around him. The arm was nearly torn from the body, but Hellot rushed outside the cage, had it bandaged to his body and then returned to the arena to complete the act. Spectators applauded the man for his courage and nerve, but Hellot was not seeking applause, he only wanted to "make good."

Hellot also worked the act twice the next day, as John Gullfoyle, another trainer did not reach St. Paul from West Baden until late that night. And then on the third day without ever seeing the animals perform, Gullfoyle went into the arena and put the lions through their act.

Hellot remained in the hospital for several weeks, but returned to West Baden in time to perfect an act in which eleven tigers will appear. This is the largest number of tigers to ever work simultaneously in this country and was perfected after three years of constant training. Both the lion and tiger acts are features of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, which comes to Jacksonville, for two performances and big, free street parade on September 10th.

Bear this in mind when you buy your spreader—You can't get strength without material—and you can't get material without weight. The JOHN DEERE has the strength built into it to meet the demand for economical service—it is not built to meet a competitive price.

You may pay a little more for a JOHN DEERE, but you never buy farm machinery at as low cost as when you pay for the extra pounds of strength you get in a John Deere Spreader.

Make comparison from every standpoint—You will see the economy in buying a JOHN DEERE.

ENTRY LIST FOR HARNESS RACES LARGE

One Hundred and Twenty-four Entries Made for Twelve Trotting and Pacing Events on Card—Improvements Going on at Grounds

The entry list for the harness races at the Morgan County Fair beginning next week, has been closed, and the records show that a total of 124 entries have been made for the 12 harness races during the meet, and in addition, the pony races and running races are reported to also be drawing a good field in each start. In the harness races, several of the horses are entered in more than one race but in the aggregate the number of horses competing here this season will be far greater than ever before, one race carrying 16 entries and the others running from two to 14 in each race.

Speed Superintendent Clark Stevenson is one of the busiest men in Jacksonville at present, preparing quarters for the arrivals and answering the numerous questions which are naturally asked by the visiting horsemen. Other officials of the fair are also busy allotting space for the concessions, arranging the exhibition tents which are now going up in a huge canvas city, and beautifying the grounds and arranging conveniences for the large crowds who always attend the fair. The coat of white paint given to the race track fence and the buildings add greatly to the appearance of the surroundings and Morgan county can boast of as fine grounds as are in this part of the state and the equal of any, now, in the matter of exhibits, races and other attractions.

The list of entries for the harness races follows:

SENATORS TAKE LEAD AWAY FROM YANKEES

Visitors Pile Up Eight Runs in Eighth Inning, Six of Which Come After Two Are Out—Final Score 11 to 6.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Washington took the lead from the New York Yankees here today as the result of an eighth inning rally which netted eight runs, six of them after two were out. The score was 11 to 6. Ruth hit his 41st and 42nd home runs and apparently had piled up a safe lead for New York when Pennock weakened in the eighth, and the entire New York club collapsed shortly after that. A fumble by Dugan let in the second run of the inning. With two out and New York still a run ahead Goslin drove a liner to Witt, but the sun blinded the fielder as he was set for the catch. It went for a three base hit scoring three runs. Three more runs followed, two after Dugan prolonged the inning with a second fumble.

Washington drove out 18 hits. Rice hit two doubles and three singles and Goslin hit a home run, a triple, a double and a single and drew a base on balls.

BRAVES DROP TWO GAMES TO PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—The Boston Braves dropped both ends of a fast doubleheader with Philadelphia today by the scores of 1 to 0 and 9 to 3. Jess Barnes opposed Glazner on the hill in the first game and he allowed but three hits in the seven innings two came together and combined with a sacrifice hit accounted for the lone run of the fray. Home runs by Cy Williams and Catcher Gibson of the Braves resulted in a 3 to 3 tie for the first six innings of the second game but in the seventh Philadelphia assaulted Genewich for five straight hits after two were out and scored four runs more than enough to win.

CAPITOL EXCITED OVER BASEBALL NEWS

Washington, Aug. 28.—Washington's ascent to the American League leadership by its defeat of the Yankees today has raised local fandom to a high pitch of enthusiasm and expectancy. Crowds which entirely blocked traffic on a downtown thoroughfare today shouted their approval of the home team's heavy stick work which amassed eight runs in the eighth inning as they watched the play by play story of the game in a newspaper scoreboard.

Billy Evans SAYS

Is growing popularity of golf hurting baseball in any way?
For some time much has been printed as to the inroads golf is making on the national pastime.

True, golf has weaned away some supporters from the game. Usually, fans who have reached the age where they believe the taking of some exercise is better than merely playing a passive part.

However, for every fan that has quit baseball for golf, two new ones have been made for the diamond sport.

It takes much time and considerable money to be a golf enthusiast. As yet it has not reached the stage where it is a game for the masses.

In proportion to the population of every city, big or little, where golf is played, the courses are greatly in the minority. Only a very few of the people can be taken care of.

The open spaces required for an 18-hole course is one thing that will always handicap the sport when vying with baseball for national popularity.

Often the distance between two holes on the average golf course is enough ground to lay out a baseball diamond on.

Baseball and golf are both great games. Each appeals to a certain clientele. Each has a distinct place in the world of sport.

The alarmists who insist that baseball is being hurt by golf from an attendance standpoint have not even taken time to derive into statistics.

President Johnson of the American League recently issued a statement in which he said baseball was having its biggest year in its organization.

If there is one phase where golf is hurting baseball, it may be in retarding the development of players.

The various golf courses throughout the country require many caddies to tote the sticks of the players. It offers a chance for the youngsters to make some spending money during the summer months under the most pleasant surroundings.

No doubt many of the boys now totting golf bags would be otherwise spending the time playing baseball.

Major league scouts are a unit in the opinion that in the last five years the standard of the young players of the country has fallen off greatly.

Some of the big league scouts attribute it to golf. Others say it is because of lack of proper playing facilities.

Whatever the reason, the picking up of major league possibilities is constantly becoming a more difficult task.

A majority of the big league stars of today are players who were in the spotlight 10 or more years back.

The development of big league timber is a problem that the major leagues will shortly be called upon to solve.

ATHLETICS TRIMMED BY RED SOX TWICE

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—Boston defeated Philadelphia twice today 6 to 3 and 8 to 7. After the Red Sox had made 7 runs in the first inning of the second game Philadelphia came from behind and tied the score. Boone hit a homer into the right field bleachers in the eighth to win the game. Winters a recruit from San Antonio made his debut in the box for Boston, but was knocked out in the fourth inning.

Scores: First Game: Philadelphia . . . 001 000 000-3 4 0
Cooney and Barnes and O'Neill, Glazner and Wilson.

Second Game: Boston . . . 000 111 000-3 6 1
Philadelphia . . . 010 020 420-8 14 3
Genewich and Gibson; Betts and Henline.

TIT FOR TAT

Pittsburgh may yet get even with the Giants for the mean trick the latter pulled in 1921. That year the Pirates appeared to have the pennant cinched when New York staged a late season spurt that lifted the team into first place and the flag. This year the Pirates have been manhandling the Giants good and proper.

Smith Shuts Out Chicago 7 to 6 in First Tilt but Chicago Annexes Second 7 to 6 in Tenth Inning

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28.—Cleveland and Chicago broke even today. After Cleveland won the first 7 to 6 with veteran Sherrod Smith pitching, Chicago took the second in 10 innings, 7 to 6. Cleveland tied the score in the ninth and had the bases filled with only one out but could not put the winning run over.

Market Report

By The Associated Press

ALL GRAINS AVERAGE HIGHER IN PRICE

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—All grain averaged higher in price here today due to bullish foreign news and continued unfavorable crop reports from the domestic corn belt. At the finish wheat was up 1 1/2 to 2c with September $1.22 1/2 to $1.23 1/2 and December $1.27 1/2 to $1.28 1/2; corn scored a net gain of 1 1/2 to 2 1/2, oats rose 1 1/2 to 1 1/2c, and provisions advanced 1 1/2 to 2 1/2c.
 Wheat displayed a firm undercurrent throughout the day largely in sympathy with corn strength and because of lower temperatures in Canada and the advance in Liverpool. A report from Germany telling of the rotting of crops as a result of excessive wet weather, an official statement from the soviet government of Russia stating that about 60 percent of the planted wheat acreage will be a failure and a report that the Swedish wheat crop will be nearly a million and a half bushels less than last year also helped to lift values here. Pestific reports of damage in the corn belt were chiefly responsible for the upturn in corn. Nebraska complained of continuous hot dry weather which is firing the crop and Iowa said low temperatures there were retarding corn which is in need of warmer weather to advance development.
 There was some activity in the market at the start with individuals buying freely but later a reaction resulted from profit-taking.

Oats were firm in line with other grain.

Provisions were strong and active in sympathy with higher quotations on hogs and the strength in corn.

WITH A TRAVELER IN GREAT BRITAIN

—By George W. Adams—

On the Road to England, August 13, 1924. A few hundred yards over the Scottish border lies the village of Gretna Green, famed in song and fable as the mecca of English elopers. From all parts of the north country the lovers would come flocking over the border and be married under Scotch law by the village blacksmith, who was a non-conformist divine.

The old blacksmith shop where these chains were forged is shown to a delighted public, a large sun being realized. Gretna will never be the same, however, due to the fact that English marriage laws have changed. The town has become quite modern looking in the last 10 years, as during the war it had one of the largest munitions plants in the country and houses had to be built to shelter the many workmen who came.

Strange as it may seem, one notices a change when the border has been crossed. The cottages look neater and cleaner than those of Northumberland, there are more roses and ivy on their walls. The public buildings and churches are built of Scotch sandstone, while the latter show a wide variation in architecture from the English churches. Scottish names are thick on the signboards of all the shops.

In Dumfries, where the great Bobby Burns died, I asked my way and was answered in an accent with a most fearful and wonderful burr. I wended my way toward Newton-Stewart, Wigtownshire, thru a beautiful hilly countryside, with mountains on the one hand and the Irish sea on the other. Far out on the water, like a pinhead, a little bit of the Isle of Man could be seen. That night in the hotel at Newton-Stewart I learned that I was in a different land from England. I was engaged in conversation with the local garage proprietor, who was a bit of an antiquarian. The period of the early 17th century was under discussion and I said something about "Wasn't it the period of James I?" The young garage man looked mystified at first and didn't seem to understand. Then the light dawned on him and he looked a little peeved and replied, "Oh! You mean James VI don't you? He was James VI of Scotland before England ever heard of him. You shouldn't be talking about what the English call a Scotch king when you are in Scotland."

When I walked into the dining room for tea I saw some queer looking things piled high on a plate. They looked like pieces of asbestos and when I called them that and inquired what they were, I was indignantly informed that they were oat cakes, the national delicacy of Scotland. When smothered in butter they proved quite palatable. Which reminds me of another difference between England and Scotland. In the former country when bread and butter is ordered one gets thin slices ready buttered. In Scotland a loaf of bread and a pound of butter are set before the diner.

Near Wigtown are the remains of an old Scottish priory that was founded by St. Ninian in the 4th century. This St. Ninian, who was a nephew of St. Martin of Tours, was one of the leading missionaries of the Celtic Catholic church, which was quite separate from the Roman church. These Celtic Catholics used Maltese crosses exclusively.

The Scottish countryside seems to be even more decorated with houses of the aristocracy than is England. One passes an ornate gatehouse every mile or so.

I was riding with a young Scot and indulging in wonders as to what people were like that lived back of those big walls, when my companion broke in with "Maybe they are our old county families and maybe they are only some rich blighter who has made his money selling meat or something; maybe even a tradesman." (English for business man). The lad seemed to feel that having earned ones own money was something of a crime, and that the earner should be looked down upon, while the town was much excited over the approaching marriage of the lord of the manor, the Earl of Galloway to 19 year old Phillipa Wengell of New York City. The awe paid the lord of the manor can be understood when it is recalled that he owns nearly the whole town and all the farms for miles about. It is within his power to raise everyone's rent and so must be treated with deference.

EARL T. STURDY
District Manager
315 E. State. Jacksonville, Ill.

All peers aren't rich, however. Elizabeth, Duchess of York, was the daughter of the ancient Scottish house of Bowes Lyon. Her family was too poor to send her away to school, so she was educated at home. Yet her blood was so noble that she got the king's second son for a husband. She is today, next to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, probably the most popular person in the country.

One does not realize what a truly great personage an earl is until one gets in the earl's home town. At Newton-Stewart the point where Bonny Prince Charley began his invasion in 1745, Charley and I were alike in both entering Carlisle and in both travelling thru the lake district, but I managed to reach southern England and Charley didn't.

The lake district is very pretty, and resembles a little the foothills of the Rockies. But it was not as good as I expected it would be. The mountains are a fair height, but most of them are desolate and have a rather dreary look. They are beautified by numberless little cascades and waterfalls that come tumbling down their sides. Near one of these is a sign "Isaac Walton's fishing place."

The most interesting thing about the district is the great number of literary men that it has produced or inspired. The roll includes Wordsworth, Coleridge and DeQuincy. Wordsworth's cottage at Grassmere is a picturesque little house with ivy growing all over it, and diamond panes in the windows. It was quite near a number of tumble down houses and has so much vegetation around it that it looked dark and gloomy. However, the chief memory of Grassmere that I will carry with me is that it is the little place where I had to pay five shillings for lunch. More anon.
